Muskie Fever

"I was a bass fisherman until six years ago, and then I caught my first 40+ inch, 20+ pound muskie." Ever since that day, Gary Dew has immersed himself into learning more about the fish of 10,000 casts, the elusive muskie. That intensity has paid off as Gary has become a professional on the Muskie Tournament Trail.

The Arlington Anglers were extremely fortunate to have Gary Dew speak at their March meeting. Gary's objective was to educate us about how and where to find muskies based on the time of year:

- March and April: Try shallow weedy/wooded bays with less than 5 feet of water. Try a few of your bass lures; rattle traps, spinner baits, jig & lizard. Stay Smaller.
- May: Stay shallow either early or late, but venture out of the bays during the days. Use top water baits like Top Raiders, Low Riders, or side to side jerk baits.
- June; Try weed flats with deep breaks. Use your standard muskie lures: buck tails with hair or try tinsel tails instead for a more bulked up profile.
- July and August: Improve your golf game as the water is too warm for good fishing.
- September and October: Try inside weed turns or try banks with weed edges and steep drops. Use bigger baits like Double Showgirls or other lures with a wide wobble or high vibration. Try a fast 4.5 to 5.0 mph trolls along contours or weed edges to entice an aggression strike.

Besides being an accomplished fisherman, Gary Dew is also a co-founder of Angler 911, a charitable
